New Insurance Plan Based On Accidents, Citations Set

Local area insurance companies this week are starting to activate a new plan which will reduce automobile insurance rates by 20 per cent for California private passenger car owners who have a three-year record of no accidents and no moving traffic violations.

Under the plan motorists with a single accident or violation will pay present rates and those with two or more will pay higher rates, according to the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association, the nation's two major rating groups that developed the plan.

Called THE Safe Driver Insurance plan, it will affect 70 per cent of California car owners and will be put into effect on May 1.

Present policyholders who qualify for the reduction will save ten million dollars the first year. The safe driver rate could apply to approximately half of the six million private passenger car owners in California.

THE PLAN, WHICH will be used by more than 200 insurance companies in this state, represents an entirely new concept by relating convictions for traffic violations to automobile insurance costs.

Earl Hough, vice president of the Riverside-San Bernardino Insurance Agents Association, said today that the organization has been working on this percentage plan at every meeting held by the group for the past three or four years. "We are glad we are going to get a chance to try out the plan. There have been some points against the workability of it, but these may be overshadowed by the good points."

On Emergency Leave

Colonel 'Bumps' Airmen, General Bounces Colonel

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI) — An airman charged today a "storming" lieutenant colonel ordered him and six other enlisted men off a plane taking them home from Japan on emergency leave.

The colonel and his family then took off in the plane for a Hawaiian vacation.

THE AIRMEN appealed to Lt. Gen. Robert Burns, U. S. military commander in Japan, who ordered the Military Air Transport plane back to Japan and personally bounced the colonel from the flight.

The incident occurred last Thursday. The colonel was ordered to remain in Tokyo pending an investigation.

AIRMAN 2C ROBERT J. Kindl said here today that "We were all on emergency leave. My son had died. The daughter of another was in a hospital and fear was expressed for her life."

Airman IC Coye Y. Bell said today at Fayetteville, Tenn., he was the one who telephoned General Burns.

I thought I'd stand up for it," BELB WAS EN route home to see his brother, also an airman, who was seriously injured in an auto accident. The brother, at the Ft. Campbell, Ky., Hospital, is "going to be all right now," Bell said.

Sgt. Paul S. Cain said at Sedalia, Mo., he was shocked and surprised to learn the colonel had bumped him.

"I went out on the runway and explained the situation to the colonel," he said. "But he turned his back on me and went right on into the plane."

"It wasn't what you expect of an Air Force officer,"

CAIN WAS CALLED home because his daughter, Terri Jo, 1, has pneumonia. The child, on the critical list at Whiteman Air Force Base Hospital at Sedalia, has improved, Cain said.

The Air Force did not identify the colonel but Kindl said he knew him as "Lieutenant Colonel Platt."

The colonel, Kindl said, "came storming into the place and was pretty mad about the airmen ready to take off."

He ordered a major to bump the enlisted men, Kindl said. The major told the colonel he "was doing wrong," the airman said.

"But a direct order is a direct order and you don't disobey them."

THE AIRMEN "personally appealed to the colonel to permit us to make the flight," Kindl said. "But he paid no attention to us. He merely turned away."

Kindl said the enlisted men "appealed directly to General Burns for help and he was kind enough to take some action. We sent him a sincere note of thanks for what he did."

BURNS PERSONALLY ordered the plane back to Tachikawa Air Force Base 30 minutes after it had left for Honolulu with the colonel, his wife and four children.

The general went to the base to make sure the enlisted men got on board.

An Air Force spokesman said the investigation was being conducted personally by the 3d Air Force inspector general and would be completed in a few days.

Ike Pledges Peace 'Work' -- Warns Reds

President Tells Reds To Abandon Plans For World Conquest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower pledged today that the western allies will "continue to make concrete and realistic proposals" to settle differences with Russia, but said that the Kremlin must abandon its goal of world domination.

Addressing the 10th anniversary session of NATO against the grim backdrop of crisis in Europe, the President listed proposals "for disarmament, for a just solution to the problem of Germany, for European security and for co-operation in the newly opening realm of outer space."

"WE SHALL ALWAYS keep open the door of honest discussion — even to those whose creed is world domination," Eisenhower declared.

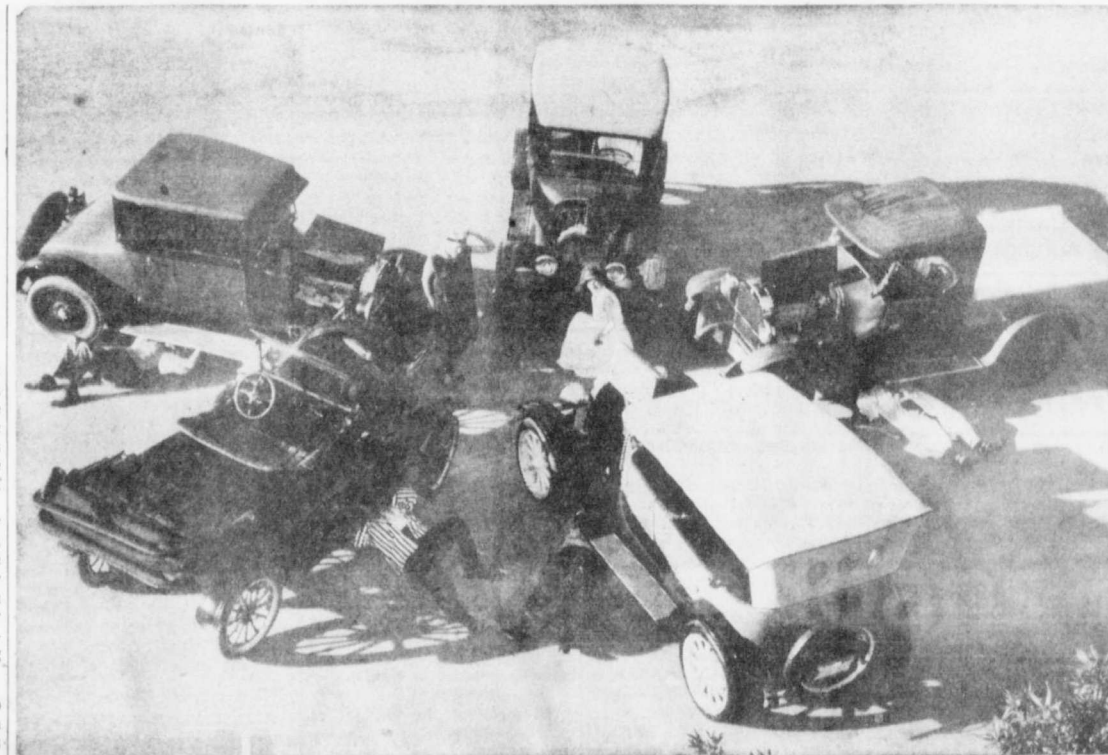

Eisenhower emphasized that the "road leading to lasting peace and universal justice" will require courage, sacrifice and perseverance.

The West, he said, "shall never cease to encourage" a change in the Communist purpose of world domination.

THE PRESIDENT TOLD the members of the 15-nation alliance that "we must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviets will be daily experiences."

Then he called the roll of what is needed on the road toward lasting peace and universal justice: — "Courage to stand fast in the face of menace and threats . . . — "Sacrifice needed to maintain and improve our collective strength over a long period of time . . . — "Perseverance to explore every avenue which offers reasonable hope for just solutions to the issues between ourselves and the Soviet Union."

EISENHOWER, WHO was NATO's first supreme military commander, noted that the Communists have made neither political nor military gains in Europe since the North Atlantic Alliance was forged 10 years ago.

OLDTIME CARS and horseless carriages, converge on Palm Springs for what is scheduled as one of the big events of Desert Circus. A rally, held for the first time during Desert Circus week, will include cranking contests, races with wires off the engine, endurance tests, and back-up races. The rally is sponsored by the Palm Springs Antique Car Club.

Morton Says Available for Top GOP Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senator Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky was described in informed Republican quarters today as the probable successor to retiring GOP National Chairman Meade ALCORN.

A new chairman will be elected at the Republican National Committee meeting April 10-11 after a seven-member subcommittee consults President Eisenhower.

IN KENTUCKY, Morton said he was available for the job if the National Committee and all segments of the party wanted him.

He also said that, if elected, he would retain his Senate seat.

The party chairmanship has been held by incumbent members of Congress three times in the past 20 years.

Morton, 51, served in the House for six years. He was assistant secretary of state during the first three years of the Eisenhower administration before his election to the Senate in 1956.

ALCORN'S SURPRISE decision to resign was announced Wednesday after he advised Eisenhower that he had to quit the chairmanship for compelling personal reasons.

He said he had to return to his Hartford, Conn., law practice but would retain his seat on the National Committee.

ALCORN succeeded Leonard W. Ball of New York in the chairmanship Feb. 1, 1957.

ANTIQUE CAR EVENTS TO BE FEATURE OF DESERT CIRCUS

A full weekend of activities has been scheduled for owners of antique cars, under the sponsorship of the Palm Springs Antique Car Club, with the public invited to join in two events Sunday.

Owners of cars 25 years of age or older, from San Diego to Fresno, have signified their intention to attend the first annual event.

At the Court, a fashion show is scheduled by the women of the group, wearing attire of years past. Prizes and awards will be given for the most authentic.

All events Sunday are open to the public.

IN THE MORNING, starting at 9:30 a.m. and continuing to 11, the antique cars will be judged in 13 categories at the Rodeo Grounds at the Polo Grounds.

There will be no admission charge.

At 1:30 p.m., seven competitive events for the antique cars will be held at the Rodeo Grounds with a nominal admission charge. It will demonstrate skill and ability of the drivers, along with mechanical condition of the cars.

AMONG THE EVENTS will be a "cranking race," relay races, back-up race, running an obstacle course with the driver blindfolded (guided by a companion in the car), and "two-wires-off race," whereby a four cylinder car is operated on two cylinders.

The Palm Springs Club hopes to make this an annual event, with the number of persons in attendance increasing year by year.

THE CHINESE garrison in Gyantse, 100 miles southwest of Tibet, was said to be preparing for new trouble with rebel elements.

The reports from Kalimpong on the Indian border said Lhasa airport was humming with the drone of small planes, and highways surrounding the Tibetan capital were jammed with troops sent there by the Communists.

IN THE INDIAN protectorate of Bhutan, just south of the area where new fighting was reported to have broken out, the small kingdom's entire militia of 5,000 men was mobilized to meet the threat of possible trouble at the Tibetan border.

Prime Minister Jigme Dorje of Bhutan told UPI that Bhutan would give the Dalai Lama temporary asylum should he ask for it, but it was clear the Bhutanese feared Chinese Communist reprisals if the "precious god-king" were allowed to stay very long in the small nation.

'SPUD GUN' MAY TICKLE KIDDIES, EASE SURPLUS, TOO

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It's sort of old-fashioned — it shoots potatoes instead of cosmic rays — but if the kiddies go for it in a big enough way, it will help solve a three-year surplus of spuds.

That's one of the sales pitches of Hollywood by manufacturer E. Joseph Cosman, who marketed a potato gun that shoots like a cork gun, only it uses bits of potato.

Desert Community Group Formed; First Project Set

PALM DESERT — Incorporation of a huge, community-wide organization — named the Desert Community Association — which will endeavor to safeguard the social and economic life of Palm Desert and to promote the cultural and recreational pursuits of the area was announced.

Walter B. Stearns, temporary chairman of the association, said that most of the membership of the Palm Desert Citizens Protective League has been included in the new organization but added that the group actually numbers close to 450 persons.

STEARN'S POINTED out that the association, as the Citizens Protective League, had twice been instrumental in the preservation of social and economic standards for the community.

"On Feb. 9," he declared, the new organization, then functioning under its original title, requested the rescinding of the County Services Area Act which had previously been approved by the Riverside County Board of Supervisors.

"On Feb. 10," he continued, the group appeared before the Riverside County Planning Commission, protesting the zone variance to allow a rock, sand and gravel pit in Deep Canyon.

"Both of our petitions were upheld and granted," Stearns pointed out.

INVITED TO JOIN with the newly-formed organization in preservation of the high standards of social and economic life in Palm Desert were the more than 455 persons who signed the petition opposing the Service Area Act. Most of the persons who signed the petition were also opposed to the gravel pit variance.

Stearns said that the incorporation of the association came about after many of those same persons requested "formation of a permanent organization to keep Palm Desert residents advised of any developments affecting their cultural, economic or social welfare."

The temporary chairman said that membership cards have already been mailed to many Palm Desert citizens. He said that persons who have not received them may enlist in the community-wide program by writing Post Office Box 161, Palm Desert.

AN ELECTION OF permanent officers for the association is being planned, Stearns said.

Present executive committee members are J. J. Moran, R. K. Hanson, Werner Gubitz, H. O. Davis, Jack Paine, Stephen Chase, Forrest Bowers, George F. Munns, John M. McGregor, Stanley Sayles, D. J. Whitman, George Douglas Jones and Stearns.

Other prominent Palm Desert citizens have been in attendance at formative meetings during the past few months, Stearns said, and have indicated that they will continue to render service to the group.

Red Chinese Bitter Over Lama Escape

COMMUNISTS RENEW 'EXTERMINATION' COMBAT WITH TRIBES

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The god-like Dalai Lama of Tibet was reported today to have escaped his Chinese Communist pursuers and crossed the border into India.

The Chinese Communists said in a Peiping radio broadcast monitored in Tokyo that the young Dalai Lama was accompanied into India by some of the rebels who took part in the fighting at Lhasa, Tibet's capital city, nearly two weeks ago.

THE COMMUNIST report came soon after informed sources in New Delhi reported renewed fighting had broken out between rebels and the Chinese Communists in an area southeast of Lhasa.

Peiping radio said the Dalai Lama entered India "under duress by the rebellious elements." The Communists have charged all along that the young god-king did not really want to leave Lhasa. Their latest broadcast implied that he was a virtual captive of the rebels.

INDIAN BORDER police were said by Peiping on their way from Tawang to meet the Dalai Lama. Peiping also said a UPI correspondent was on his way to the Indian border to interview him.

Renewed fighting in southeast Tibet was said to have begun Wednesday when the Communists directed heavy fire against pockets of rebel Khamba tribesmen. The Communists were said to be dropping paratroopers over a wide area of Southeastern Tibet.

THE CHINESE garrison in Gyantse, 100 miles southwest of Tibet, was said to be preparing for new trouble with rebel elements.

The reports from Kalimpong on the Indian border said Lhasa airport was humming with the drone of small planes, and highways surrounding the Tibetan capital were jammed with troops sent there by the Communists.

"Just push the barrel into a fresh potato and a quick twist," he explained, "then it's armed."

Potato growers from the Imperial Valley did not subsidize the new toy, but feel it promises enough of an incentive to offer free potatoes in Cosman's advertising campaign.

Cosman told the growers that if the nation's younger set cooperates by shooting lots of potatoes in the next year, the spud surplus could be reduced by as much as six million pounds.

Young Violinist Debuts

Vertchamp Trio 'Superb' In Chamber Recital Here

By GEORGE LAINE

Three chamber musicians and a 7-year-old boy charmed an unusually large, unusually appreciative crowd of nearly 150 Village music lovers in a recital presented in Civic Center by the Desert Art Center.

Although the appearance of the Los Angeles Philharmonic and the recital of Eugene Conley and Nadine Conner still remain on the Palm Springs music calendar, the recital must now be regarded as the high point of the 1959 season, for a number of reasons.

THE MUSIC WAS superb, even the transcriptions which I normally dislike.

The audience was the best-mannered I have seen in this town and on a par with the best I have seen elsewhere.

The City Council's chambers are unusually well-suited to small ensemble playing, having both an acoustic quality that emphasizes and accents every note and a compactness that lends instant contact with every corner of the room to the musicians.

OUTSTANDING PORTION of the Monday night program was Mendelssohn's C Minor Trio (Opus 66 which was given a delightful reading by Albert Vertchamp, violin; Mary Hoover, piano, and Wladyslaw Przybyla, cello.

Three allegro movements, each with its very own quality, were set against one another in a movement by Mendelssohn in this latter-day work. The first allegro had a sort of devil-may-care flippancy about it, the second allegro a jubilant, dance-like aura, and the third allegro a rapid-fire but meaningful context.

LIKE ALMOST ALL of Mendelssohn's sorties into the realm of chamber music, it defined each instrument in some portions but, more often, reached for and achieved a welded blend of the three.

Vertchamp, Przybyla and Miss Hoover played not as three persons who began rehearsals only a scant month and a half ago but as a unified trio that has been playing together for years.

ALSO INCLUDED on the program were two sonata — Bach's E Major and Beethoven's A Major — by Vertchamp and Miss Hoover. The attractive pianist nearly stole a march on the venerable violinist in the Bach with her application to some several passages aligned against the violin by the composer. Her playing in this selection was outstanding.

Vertchamp played the Bach well if somewhat laboriously but he had no trouble whatsoever with the Beethoven. It flowed from his violin as if that greatest of all composers had written it expressly for Vertchamp. In the andante movement of this work, a theme stated by the piano is re-stated by the violin and, for most of the balance of the movement, the two instruments work at a counter-acting statement of line.

Vertchamp and Miss Hoover performed this movement — a tricky sort of thing at best — with such indefinable beauty and feeling that had it not been for the Mendelssohn on his program, the Beethoven would have been the highlight.

VERTCHAMP ACHIEVED a sort of commercial rapport with his audience without sacrifice of anything musical when he introduced one of his pupils, 7-year-old Robert Mallette of Cathedral City.

The boy's conception of time, his predominantly musical attitude to the selection, his stage mannerisms — all indicated that it will be well to watch closely his further progress. The youngster was very nearly as delighted as Vertchamp with his playing and the audience's enthusiasm knew no bounds.

THE DESERT ART CENTER must be praised for its foresight and its sense of community responsibility in the presentation of this recital.

It is often easier for such organizations to present concerts and recitals of "popular" attractions playing "popular" selections. More often than not, these programs pack the house, provide the revenue and eliminate the element of chance. Unfortunately, this type of program also eliminates most of the possibility of stimulated growth.

Storage Yard Permit Given Area Support

Overwhelmed by the support procured by M. C. Nottingham of Irwindale for elimination of the planning commission's permit requirement that a block wall be erected around the property in Thousand Palms where he plans to establish a storage yard for pre-cast concrete septic tanks, the Board of Supervisors approved a planting in place of the wall and asked the planning commission to "spell out" such a plan.

Nottingham had protested that the wall would be too costly and is unnecessary, and had appealed the permit condition.

AT THE HEARING on his appeal, Nottingham, who had agreed to erect a fence instead of the wall, appeared with a petition bearing 19 signatures of adjoining and nearby property owners, supporting his request, and a letter signed by all but one director (the vice president who was absent) of the Thousand Palms Chamber of Commerce, protesting the requirement for either a wall or a fence, and suggesting a planting.

THE PETITION had been circulated by Miss Welton, Thousand Palms realtor, who is president of the chamber of commerce. The storage yard site at 32-114 Old Highway 99, is in an interim I-W-2 zone, and the permit to be given Nottingham is a non-conforming use permit.

EASTERN VISITOR ENJOYED FAIR, BUT WANTS HIS DATES

A visitor to the 1959 county fair and date festival at Indio from Westfield, Mass., said he found the festival "most enjoyable," but deplored the fact that a box of dates he had purchased at the fair had failed to arrive. He said he had paid $3.50 plus 50 cents for mailing and asked for a refund if the dates are not going to be sent.

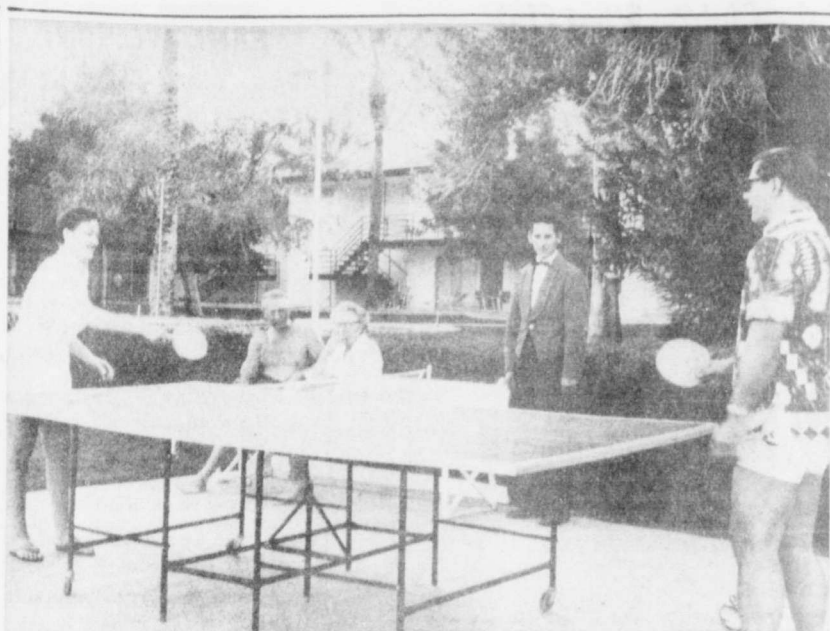

The supervisors referred the letter from the eastern resident Frank Rogowsky, to the fair manager.

County Planning Group Undergoes Reorganization

Employment of a planning associate at a starting salary of $339 per month ranging under the five-step schedule up to a high of $655 was approved by the Board of Supervisors this week as requested by Planning Director Tyler Suess with approval of the planning commission and Personnel Director Donald Spencer.

Suess said he plans reorganization of his staff and establishment of a new division to be known as the Land Use Coordination Division which will be headed by the planning associate.

FUNCTION of the division will be to coordinate the work of the Land Use Administration Division and the Master Planning Division by developing precise plans from master plans for processing by the Land Use Administration Division. The newly created position of planning associate will be effective May 1, and will replace one planning technician position with salary range of $444 to $539. In addition to heading the new Land Use Coordination Division of the planning department, the planning associate will supervise drafting and other technical work of the department.

"THE NEED for a coordination division has long been felt," declared Suess, "particularly in expediting commission orders, board orders, and orders of the planning director."

"The proposed reorganization would undoubtedly provide Suess with more appropriate organization and speed up the process of planning matters," agreed Spencer.

Statistics reported by a drug company show that the mortality rate is 73 per cent higher for single men than for married men and 59 per cent higher for single women than for wives.

Houseguests of Mrs. Marcelle DeVinna over Palm Sunday weekend were Joan and Julius Evans who are active in motion pictures, TV and radio. They recently returned from England filming a series titled "Topic," a "People To People" interpretation of other peoples through the eyes of America. Mr. and Mrs. Evans plan on leaving Hollywood soon to continue the series in other countries.

Enjoying a four day visit at the home of Mrs. Eudora Pace and her mother, Mrs. Eudora Dean, were her aunts, Veneda Stephenson, on a California visit from her home in Denver, Colo., and Virlee Donaldson and Helen Davis, who live in Long Beach.

Legislature Shapes New Laws to End Rackets in Money Lending

A series of new State laws to give the public more protection against being victimized by unscrupulous collection agencies and money lenders appears likely of passage at the present session of the State Legislature.

Plugging up of the loopholes in existing laws which have made it possible for "sharpies" to load contracts with overcharges and rake in exorbitant profits through foreclosure on considerably more property than required to satisfy the actual money value of loans in event of inability to make payments, will be welcomed by buyers and all lending companies who conduct their business on a fair and honest basis.

In these days when most people purchase much of their personal property on sales contracts, including everything from appliances, automobiles, furniture, etc., it is important to see that they are treated justly and certainly not stripped and "robbed" of everything they possess because of inability to make a payment on one or a few items when adversity strikes.

Several years of investigation and hearings by a Legislative Committee probing practices of "racketeers" in the money lending field have resulted in findings which will be the basis for the corrective laws now in the making.

Principally the "cure" will consist of making the particular item or items on which money is loaned the sole security for same, thus eliminating the pledging of other property and/or the signing of promissory notes upon which deficiency judgment suits can be filed in addition even though property of greater value than the loan has already been recovered.

Efforts of the Legislature to eliminate the abuses, trickery and excessive levies practiced by even a portion of the money-lending firms is constructive and praiseworthy.

Of all businesses the financing of purchases and the borrowing of money on personal property should be strictly and adequately regulated by law to the extent that fair and honest dealings are universally assured with swift, severe and sure punishment meted out to violators who prey on the gullible and fatten their purses on the individual in his hour of helpless adversity.

Nixon in Mid-Passage---

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Vice President Richard Nixon remains the central figure in next year's election contests. No Republican can have the GOP nomination except over his fallen political body. No Democrat would be nominated (assuming the Democratic Convention comes first, as is expected) unless the delegates feel that he's the man to take Nixon's measure.

To test these best-Nixon criteria, we must size up the Vice President, now a trim, lean, serious-minded, battle-wise leader in several fields—in the party, of course, in the administration, in the Free World's grim struggle against the Communist Monster.

To test these best-Nixon criteria, we must size up the Vice President, now a trim, lean, serious-minded, battle-wise leader in several fields—in the party, of course, in the administration, in the Free World's grim struggle against the Communist Monster.

NIXON AT THE moment has no challenger for the GOP nomination except New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller. The handsome and nervy young executive, whom Nixon has always liked in their frequent association around Washington, has not announced his candidacy.

There are informed sources which say that he is being advised to wait for a more propitious Republican year than 1960. But if he runs (others say he's "running" now), Rockefeller will marshal the forces for a classic party battle, similar to but not identical with the GOP history of 1940-52.

A ROCKEFELLER-Nixon fight would be essentially East vs. West; Wall Street vs. Transpacific America, the New York dynasty which nominated Wendell Willkie and Thomas Dewey vs. the prairie traditions which commenced with Lincoln and ended with Alf Landon.

The Rockefeller forces would include the Eastern Republican regency of large metropolitan newspapers and mass circulation news magazines, plus firms of money-raisers and public relations which have bankrolled and ballyhooed numerous Rockefeller family projects, as well as many political aspirants.

Presidential Candidate Rockefeller would also wheel into the battle line a good many two-party Liberals and the implied support of powerful Labor and Welfare groups (not excluding those close to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt) which are usually thought of as belonging to the Democratic party.

THIS ROCKEFELLER following has one obvious over-all characteristic. It includes nearly all the elements of the hate-Nixon fraternities. These brethren took the blood oath to destroy Nixon when he tackled Alger Hiss and they had not relented as late as November, 1958, when the Vice President was campaigning cross-country for Republican candidates and against "radicals."

In all, the Rockefeller legion is a formidable array, enough to dishearten all but the most fortitudinous opponent. But Richard Nixon has been an uphill runner since his very first campaign against an entrenched House Democrat in 1946. The prospect of stern competition is more likely to be inspiring than fearsome to the canny Californian.

FOR NIXON has armies of his own, although they are scattered and partially disbanded at this writing. The Old Guard Republicans, whose homeland stretches from the Ohio Valley to the Pacific Coast, are clearly not going to rally for Rockefeller. In 1952-56, the GOP conservatives grumbled a great deal over the Middle Road as designated and trod by the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

But the GOP right wing pinned up its Ike-Dick buttons with a brave face. There was nothing else to be done. This year and next, it is almost axiomatic that Western Republicanism will provide the substantial reservoir of the Vice President's political strength.

SUCH WOULD be the weights and measurements of the Rockefeller-Nixon bout, should it take place. The New Yorker is stronger in the moneybags and more shrill in the propaganda whistles, but the question is: Can Rockefeller collect more Republican delegates with these resources than Nixon can collect with his more modest means?

Past records are helpful, but not conclusive. True, Dewey (N.Y.) took the nomination away from both Taft (Ohio) and Warren (Calif.), and the glittering figure of Gen. Eisenhower repeated this victory over the Midwest and Pacific West.

POLITICS IS not arithmetic. Anything can happen. But Nixon, in a most convincing way, combines the traits and the backings which once attached to Senator Robert Taft and California's Earl Warren. As a staunch party man, through thick and thin, Nixon appeals to the Taft Conservatives who are still a militant Midwest group. And, as a "progressive" in matters of race relations, trade unions, social welfare and internationalism, Nixon approximates the appeal which Warren once carried for the Independent of swing-voters—those who decide the elections in the big States and in the United States.

In order to take the GOP nomination from Nixon, Rockefeller would have to build a majority of delegates from the East, from the Liberals, from the "radicals." In order to retain the nomination, which was virtually conceded before the Rockefeller victory last November, Nixon must hold the Old Guard Conservatives and must recruit from the progressive-independent wing.

Other factors, of course, will enter the contest in the months ahead. The ups and downs of fortune for the Vice President and the Governor are unpredictable. It is still not too late for a third candidate to make a lightning campaign. But as of now the laws of probability are favoring Richard Nixon.

—Holmes Alexander.

'Heh, Heh—Club?—What Club'

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

Selfish oafs
Hogging party lines
Should be socked
With limit fines.

Thoughtless gossiping persons who monopolize telephone party lines, made the front pages again twice last week.

IN ONE CASE, they cost a farm family its home — in another, a man his life.

In the first case, the farmer, discovering his kitchen ablaze, rushed to the telephone and heard two women comparing market prices in a nearby city.

WHEN HE pleaded with them for use of the line to call the county fire department, they screamed at him.

"We're using this line. Get off and wait your turn." "But my house is burning down!" "Get a new excuse, that's worn out."

When he implored one of them, if they didn't believe him, to call the fire department, they told him to hang up or they'd report him to the telephone company.

All that family has left of their house is the fireplace and brick chimney.

IN LA PUENTE a man was stricken with a heart attack. His wife rushed to the telephone to call an ambulance and found the line busy. Two women discussed fashions.

Her pleas for a chance to call and also met rebuff.

"Hang up, we've heard that excuse before."

She ran to a neighbor's home and finally made the call.

But the delay was fatal. Her husband was dead when the ambulance arrived.

WHAT THESE selfish people probably don't know or, if they do, don't care because they think they are safe from detection, is that a state law provides a fine of $500 and/or 180 days in jail, or refusal to yield a party line in an emergency.

In the La Puente case an investigation is on to find and arrest the guilty gossipers.

DOWN HERE in Palm Springs where horse-back riding is a favorite recreation, this should come as welcome news to many men, and to women who wear slacks, too.

According to the UPI, Patrick Hogan, an English tailor, has invented leg falsies for bow-legged men.

They consist of plastic and cloth form to be worn under knee length socks to pad out the leg shape.

MAIN TROUBLE, as I see it, that a man wearing knee-length stockings with shorts is going to cause more heads to turn on Palm Canyon Drive than a man who looks like an inverted horse-shoe.

Men who make snide remarks about woman who wear falsies, now have to shut up.

They should have long ago because coat shoulders have been padded for years.

THE ONLY trouble with resisting temptation, says Dan Bennett, is that a man may not get another chance.

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

"Oh, to be in England."

"Now that April's there." Once every few months I order the London papers by mail. They are lively journals and a pack of them arrived this morning and I took a cup of coffee out in the sun and did a little reading.

Tiddlywinks has become an official varsity sport between Oxford and Cambridge. "The sport taxes every fiber of the brain and every muscle of the body," declared the Rev. E. A. Willis. He is secretary general of the English Tiddlywinks Association.

THE BRITISH read five times as many papers (by percentage) as we do. This is a gloomy thought that dogs American publishers and circulation managers.

The British papers have very little to report by our standards.

THE CRIME RATE is low. A purse snatching that would hardly make our final editions is fair news in London. And you can see the eager readers scanning the journals, quaffing their pints and wondering, cor, wot's to come of it all.

This lack of solid news material has developed a high pitch of reporting in Fleet Street. I read the London journals and wonder at the ingenuity of it all.

THE INTERNATIONAL Doghouse Club has been formed in London. It is for men who are doghoused by their spouses for getting anniversaries. Or whatever.

At Catford, Miss Brenda Stimpson told her intended he must choose where his affections lay. Between her and his racing greyhound, Happy Medium. The bridegroom chose Happy Medium.

A LETTER to the editor reports the first cuckoo. "Though it seems a bit early by a week for cuckoos at Nottingham, we are positive we heard the bird. It was about dusk and I called to the people across the way. 'Did you hear it?' They affirmed they had."

says Tailor Leonard Whitley, "should have at least 15 day suits and three evening suits."

"They should cost not less than 50 guineas ($147) each."

The British Clothing Manufacturers' Federation nodded their heads grimly. They said British men are become the world's shabbiest today.

"The Italians, Americans and French have taken the lead away from us."

A bleak day for England.

THE FUR HATS on the Household Guards (who change regularly to the delight of American tourists and Eastman Kodak Company) have gotten shabby.

The big hats are made of bearskin. They cost $46 each. "It's all a question of better bears, you know," said Captain Lendrum. "They come from Russia or Canada or somewhere and are frightfully difficult to get hold of."

He admitted some of the shakos are 50 years old "and are getting a bit scruffy."

THE PEA FARM of Queen Elizabeth is a subject for the financial pages. The farm is at Sandringham. It has a contract to supply peas to a frozen food firm.

The frozen food people have decided to pay $126 a ton for peas instead of the previous policy of paying by the acre.

"An impossible situation," said the farm management staffy. "We must be paid by the acre or go up the spout."

In fact, most of what I get from the London papers this day is an outlook of dismay. Ah, but April's there. Don't forget that.

QUOTES

LOS ANGELES—Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, former U.S. ambassador to Denmark, on United States responsibility for the present international impasse:

"We have witnessed, indeed we are party to, a steady decline of Western influence in the Middle East... We have witnessed, and we are a party to, the tragic erosion of American prestige throughout Asia."

EARL WILSON:

Right Neighborly

NEW YORK — Cowboy television star Jimmy Dean thinks the folks in New York City ought to say "Howdy" or "Hello" to perfect strangers just like people do down in Plainview, Texas, and he's going to ask Mayor Wagner to proclaim a "Good morning" morning.

Jimmy's funny that way; he still wears his cowboy boots when he walks through the garment district on his way to his CBS TV studio on 39th St.—and on the New Haven RR. going home to Greenwich.

"They're easier on my feet," Jimmy told me at lunch. "I got a bump on one foot where a cow stepped on it."

"And my feet are also flat. The Army made sure of that," he said.

"How did you get the bump on your foot?" I asked him.

"A-milkin'," he answered. Forced by the network to move here from Washington last August, Jimmy noticed right off that "New York moves too fast. People here don't have time enough to do anything."

"You go out on the street and say 'Good morning' to somebody you don't know, and they'll say 'Look at him—he's flipped his cork.'"

"But I've been doin' it anyway. 'I'm a-walkin' along 39th St. and I'm a-grinnin' and I got my head held high. I say 'Good morning' and people look at me like I'm crazy."

"But there are about four guys I got to saying 'Good morning' back to me. One of them looks so grumpy I bet he wouldn't say 'Good morning' to his mother."

"You know, through one pleasant 'Good morning' you could get one fellow to say 'Good morning' to somebody else and you could help 50 people start their day off good."

"Either that, or you would get locked up for observation," he added, sadly.

Jimmy intends to ask Mayor Wagner to proclaim "Good morning" on June 21, the first day of summer. Jimmy might even put on his cowboy outfit for the occasion. He gave that up when he moved to New York — retaining only the boots.

"Why, I got a suit that's all white with a map of Texas embroidered on the back of it," Jimmy said.

"The network people elt if I wore regular clothes, I would have broader appeal, and I have to go along with that."

He wears his boots almost everywhere — except to church. A religious young man, he likes preachers who "romp on your toes." He found one in Greenwich. "If you booze it up, he'll read you right out," Jimmy says.

His cowboy boots are made for him in Plainview and cost about $35 a pair. Some have walking heels or flat heels, and a few have "dogging heels."

"That's a pointed heel. When you hop off a horse and grab a steer, you got something to dig into the ground with."

Jimmy thinks the philosophy of life he learned in his Lubbock, Tex., area has helped him in the fast life he's found himself in New York and Connecticut.

He also picked up some "learnin'" from the country music singers around Nashville. One of his favorite philosophers is "Grandpa Jones."

Personally, Jimmy contends he's "about as sophisticated as a denim shirt." "Grandpa Jones" took over a show Jimmy had been doing in Washington, and Jimmy will always remember his flattering words.

"You did good, Jimmy, because you're a quick-witted boy," Grandpa Jones said. "But you take me—my wit is slower'n smoke off a shed."

"DON'T PRINT THAT!" The female star of a B-way hit told her leading man he'd paid his role more realistically if he had a romance with her... A famed B-way entertainer who made a H-wood film recently says, "I got drunk early out there and stayed that way all day—it was the only way I could stand that town."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: We've heard of a H-wood couple who had such a big fight over the divorce terms that they stayed wed, just for spite.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Poise is the ability to face the guillotine without losing your head.

A henpecked husband says the new state withholding tax is doing something he could never do—getting money out of his pay envelope before his wife grabs it... That's earl, brother.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

'Best of Everything'

HOLLYWOOD — The cast of Jerry Wald's "The Best of Everything" is shaping up as the best of everything, including young players to lure the teenage fans. Latest youngsters set are Gary Cooper's daughter Maria, Henry Fonda's daughter Jane and John Payne's daughter Julie. They'll all play young secretaries.

Rock Hudson was one of the Godfathers at the christening of Ty Power IV at All Saints Episcopal Church in Beverly Hills. But the betting's now on that Debbie Power, widow of TY III, won't be the next Mrs. Hudson. Change-of-heart, according to Rock's chums, is occasioned by his new I don't want to be burned again attitude—although there are plenty who think he got off easy with his $10,000-a-year alimony payments to Phyllis Gates!

OTHERS IN THE Power infant's all-star Godparent lineup, with the Rev. Kermit Castellanos officiating, were Sir Laurence Olivier, Mrs. Van Johnson and Tally and Willy Wyler.

A Thin Singer, and I do mean Frank Sinatra, stands to lose a big bundle on Monday's (April 6) Academy Awards presentation. He bet on his pal Tony Curtis, at two-to-three odds, in the best-actor division. But David Niven is still the favorite, for "Separate Tables," with Curtis and his "Defiant Ones" sidekick, Sidney Poitier, splitting their vote. Too bad.

I HEAR SOME of the red-hot love scenes between Paul Newman and Barbara Rush in "The Young Philadelphians" are NOT for Young Philadelphians... Speaking of which, Hollywood's self-censoring Shurlock Office tossed the screenplay based on D. H. Lawrence's "Sons and Lovers" back at Fox with this notice attached: "Clean it up before you shoot it!"

MGM, trimming its sails to fit the wind, is using the African film footage left over from "King Solomon's Mines" for its new "Tarzan and the Apesmen." But you'll see the new Tarzan, Denny Miller, and his Jane, Joanna Barnes, in plenty of the action—in other words, the stuff shot on the lot and inter-cut with the "Solomon" stock shots.

Andre Previn plays the piano and George Bryn sings on Atlantic Records' new LP of Platter of some not-so-familiar old Jerome Kern tunes. Byron is the singer who married Kern's widow, Eva.

SHEILA and Gordon MacRae made two advance bookings for the summer. Their kids go to summer camp and they go into the Cocoanut Grove.

Rhoda Borgnine reacted to Katy Jurado's announcement that she'll marry Rhoda's ex, Ernie, on Sept. 1 by going out and buying complete new wardrobes for the Borgnine bimbos on Ernie's charge account.

Fox is shaping up Ella Kazan's next movie, "Time and Tide"—formerly titled "Mud on the Stars"—for Marilyn Monroe. But first the overly-plump Miss Monroe, according to the studio bosses, will have to shape herself DOWN.

CHANNEL CHATTER — Erin O'Brien blames her temporary deafness-plus-abscessed-ear on the boisterous bongo drums that blasted her eardrums when she guest-sang on her second Liberace show.

Frank Sinatra and Pete Lawford allowed they went into the restaurant business (they're co-partners of the new Puccini's in Beverly Hills) because they've always had trouble getting reservations elsewhere in town. So maitre d' Bill Karen staged it (as a gag) for Pete to find his regular table every night table occupied the night the Italian eatery opened — by Anna Maria Alberghetti and Buddy Bregman.

ANN BLYTH WENT home from her first day on Wagon Train with the flu. A calamity—it closed down the set and took a big bite out of Revue Productions' payroll because cast-and-crew get paid whether they work or not in cases like this—and it also closed down the office of Ann's husband, Dr. Jim McNulty, who rushed home to doctor his darlin'.

Guy Williams has turned down $50,000 worth of easy-money guestings during the current shutdown of his Zorro series — "because I can't sing, I can't dance, I'm not a comedian, I'm an actor. If you're not a comedian and tell jokes on TV you're crazy. So what do I do — just get up there and say 'Here I am'? Nope—they may be willing to pay me to do it but I'm not willing to do it!"

THE OTHER side of the coin, Theodore Bikel division: Bikel, the actor up for the best-supporting actor Oscar for his role as the sheriff in "The Defiant Ones," will do a one-man show on CBS-TV's Look Up and Live show April 12: he is writing, producing and directing the show, on which he'll sing folk songs!

Jerry Colonna's contribution: "How come everybody's bedding about the 'silly' rock-'n'-roll trend in popular songs? Remember the good old days when we were all singing a lovely ballad called 'Yes, We Have No Bananas'?"

TORTOISE TIM IS HOME FROM TRIP

Tortoise Tim says "Hi" again, Boys and Girls and Young Teenagers! Certainly hope all of you had a wonderful Easter. T. T. enjoyed San Francisco for a few days. He made pretty good time for an old desert tortoise, don't you think?

T. T. was happy to get back and is pleased with the many suggestions he is receiving for a name for this column. It's going to be a mighty hard decision for an old tortoise and his colleagues to make. My, oh my, is it!

REMEMBER THE deadline is April 4, 1959 and that a beautiful doll or remote - controlled car or airplane awaits the lucky boy or girl. (T. T. will also print the picture of the winner or winners, in case of a tie.) You know, old T. T. is almost as excited about this contest as you boys and girls are.

Tortoise Tim also wants to remind you that you can win a $2 prize if your good neighbor letter, story, poem, drawing, cartoon, or goal of the week appears in his column. Don't forget, all you aspiring newspaper reporters, the junior reporter of the week gets a $2 check for his picture and news item, too.

IT'S TIME YOU got busy! You can be a winner. These prizes are given away every week. Yes, sir, every week!

If you don't succeed the first time, don't give up! Try and try again. Watch T. T.'s page each Thursday. You may see your work. All T. T. wants is for you to do your best. Remember, originality, effort and neatness pays off.

Send your entries to Tortoise Tim, Desert Sun, P. O. Box 190, Palm Springs, if you are between the ages of 5 and 14.

Week's Activities

If you wish to announce your club's activities, special athletic event, school carnivals, etc., please let T. T. know about it as least a week ahead of time. He wants to help make each special event a big success by letting every one know about it.

JIM HAMILTON, 9, 572 BEDFORD DRIVE, PALM SPRINGS

MANY ENTRIES SUBMITTED FOR TORTOISE TIM PAGE

Now let's look at a few of the many entries which filled old T. T.'s mailbox this week! This certainly was a fine week with lots of splendid work, which kept the mailman pretty busy. He was happy though, because he likes to bring me the fine work you young folks are doing.

Goal of the Week

Kyle Smith, 8½ years, 22-924 Rancho Vista Dr., Palm Springs:

"Tortoise Tim: I was thinking about a good goal for the week. I thought that each one should take care of himself and try always to be kind and courteous to all people at all times."

(T. T. wants to know your idea. We young people want to build better lives. You, by trying hard to follow each week's goal, will be taking a step toward becoming finer and happier leaders of tomorrow.)

GOOD NEIGHBOR LETTER

"Remember, if you know a boy or girl or anyone who has proved to be a good neighbor, please let T. T. know all about it. If you wish, your letter can be about someone who has won some award or honor."

Barbara Lozano, 9 years, 3988 Camino Paracelo, Palm Springs. Dear Tortoise Tim, I think "31 Flavors" is a very good neighbor because they gave us thirty-five ice cream cartoons—enough for everyone in our classroom. They also give other children some to use for their projects.

Our class is making space helmets out of them. Then, when we are finished, we will bring them to school.

We are going to have a contest to see who has the most clever helmet. We are going to go to the sixth grade room with our space helmets. The sixth grade is going to vote on whose space helmet is the best. They can't see whose head is in the space helmet, so the contest will be fair.

The boys and girls are also going to wear their helmets for part of a program. Then we are going to sing a space song.

31 Flavors helped make this possible for us. I vote for them as the good neighbors of the week. Your friend, Barbara Lozano

SIGHTS IN THE SKY

By Cecilia Manthey, 9 years, 4233 Calle San Antonio, Palm Springs.

The sun is yellow. It looks so round and mellow. The stars are blue and bright. As you look up in the night.

You see such a wonderful sight. (Cecilia tried a little rhyme, and she did just fine. Give yourself a little time, and you'll be proud to say, "That's mine.")

Reporter of the Week

KANDY KNOTTS, 9

30472 San Antonio Drive, Palm Springs

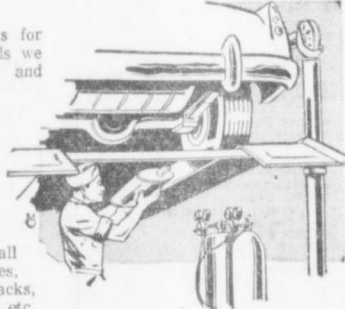

THESE GIRLS ARE holding two of the bunnies which the girls in their third grade made for the little children in the hospital in San Bernardino. All the girls in this case enjoyed making them very much. It was lots of fun. The girls in my picture are Barbara Lozano and Judy Knorr. (Big things will be happening here in Palm Springs, so T. T. suggests you get your cameras loaded and keep your eyes and ears open for a story. Then send in your picture and information right away. You may be chosen the lucky junior reporter of the week.)

STORIES OF WEEK

MY DREAM

By Patty McGuire, 9 years, 68-970 Olancho Road, Palm Springs.

One night I had a dream. I dreamed that I was floating through space. As I floated along, these are some of the things that I saw. I saw comets, shooting stars, meteors, and a bright moon. I saw the smallest planet of them all. It is called Mercury. Venus is one of the closest ones to our earth and is very pretty. I could not see any people on Mars, but there were traces of water.

As I traveled along, a man-made satellite passed me in its orbit and it was as pretty as any of the natural stars. The biggest planet is Jupiter. Saturn has three rings and nine moons around it and is very nice to see. I saw Uranus and Neptune and Pluto. Pluto is the farthest in distance from our earth. I saw many big stars and many small stars. The hottest planet is Mercury and the coldest is Pluto.

As gravity pulled me back to earth, I saw our moon circling our earth, and I decided that our earth is the best planet of them all. I was glad to get back to my bed. Then my mother woke me up, and it was time to go to school.

TRICKS, THE HERO By Bruce Ford, 9 years, Box

1348, Palm Springs.

My name is Tricks. I am a watch dog. I live on a farm. Do you know what happened one night? You see, some rustlers came to steal the best sheep from my master. I woke up. Next I hurried to awaken the farmer. He got a gun. We went after the rustlers. We chased them. I cornered them in a cave. I waited for the farmer to come with his gun. Running fast I went to get the marshall. He came galloping over the prairie. He took the rustlers to jail. I got a medal, and my master got a $2,000 reward. You can be sure he gave me a big steak for dinner.

(You wrote a story but forgot to send it? T. T. suggests you take it right out to your mailbox now. Before you know it, you may find an envelope with a $2 check waiting in your mailbox for you.)

Harris Wins But Is Still Far From Patterson Fight

DALLAS, Tex. — UPI — Roy Harris reigned king of the Texas heavyweights today but his manager doubts the bloody brawl with Donnie Fleeman has moved him any closer to another crack at World Champion Floyd Patterson.

Harris, the former backwoods school teacher who expects to become a father any day now, pounded out a unanimous 12 round decision last night in the nationally televised Texas Championship fight.

Joey Giambra, 157, won a unanimous decision over Al Andrews, 162, of Superior, Wis., in a co-feature middleweight bout.

Fleeman, 163, opened a two-and-one-half inch gash over Harris' forehead and cut the Out 'N' Shoot, Tex., fighter's vision for six rounds until trainer Bill Gore stopped the flow at the end of the eighth.

SAM BLOWS IN ON THE WIND

Snead Now Favored To Capture Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Golf's old guard, including Sam Snead, Jackie Burke, Cary Middlecoff and grand-pappy Jimmy Demaret, attracted added support when brisk winds were forecast for the start of play today in the Masters tournament.

A field of 83, made up of 19 amateurs and 69 professionals, was scheduled to tee off at approximately 10 a. m. for the first of the four rounds which will decide the winner of the tournament started by Bobby Jones 25 years ago.

When word got around that windy weather was predicted for today's first round, the odds-makers installed Snead, a three-time winner of the Masters, as the favorite at 5 to 1, dropping young Ken Venturi, the original choice, down to 6-1.

Snead is used to the winds which often sweep the Augusta National Golf Club course and so are Burke, Middlecoff and Demaret, who is the only golfer beside Snead who has won this tournament three times, is regarded as the best wind player in the game.

The forecast also increased the chances of defending champion Arnold Palmer, also regarded as one of the better players when breezes engulf the course.

Palmer, however, still was listed as an 8-1 shot along with Middlecoff and Ben Hogan. Demaret, along with Art Wall and Billy Casper, were 10-1 while Burke was 12-1.

Sacs Bow in 10th To Seattle, 3 to 2

Sacramento's Solons were in India today to meet the San Diego Padres in another spring training game after losing a close one to Seattle at El Centro last night.

The game went ten innings before the Sacs bowed 3 to 2. Frank Kellert of the Sacs broke up the game in the last of the tenth with a long triple.

The Solons almost lost the services of Al Heist who slammed into a light pole trying to snag a ball. He had two of the Sacs' eight hits.

The game left Sacramento with a 4-7 record for the spring drills.

Tony Burton to Meet Clark in Heavy Fight

Tony Burton of Los Angeles, heavyweight with a record of eight wins in ten fights, six of them by knock-outs, has been matched with Lamar Clark of Cedar City, Utah, in one of the three ten-rounders scheduled for Saturday night at the Rodeo Field of the Polo Grounds.

Marv Jensen, manager of Clark and also of the Fullmer brothers, two of whom are on Saturday night's program, too, completed arrangements for the heavyweight bout yesterday in Los Angeles.

AGAINST BURTON'S six KO record, Clark stacks a record of 39 wins, 38 of them by knock-outs.

Main event of the evening's program matches Jay Fullmer and Cisco Andrade, lightweights, at ten rounds.

Fullmer is a brother of former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer who will be ringside for the bout. Fullmer is on his way up in lightweight ranks while Andrade is a veteran of many pro fights against some of the best.

It will be a newcomer seeking a place in the fistie world against a veteran on the comeback trail.

THE THIRD 10-ROUNDER matches Don Fullmer, who has yet to lose a bout as a pro fighter—18 out of 18 to date—and Orlando DiPrieto of Ohio, a pair of hard punching middleweights.

Ticket sales for the bout, Palm Springs' first major prize fight, are selling rapidly.

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, will be guest referee.

The Indians played without the services of Frank Ripley, one of the hottest high school netters in the southland but romped through for another straight set victory.

Next week they meet Coachella Valley netters, their arch rivals, on the home courts.

Yesterday's scores:

Celtics Outlast Nats in Thriller To Take Division

BOSTON (UPI)—Whatever happens in the National Basketball Association championship playoff series between the Boston Celtics and the Minneapolis Lakers is apt to be anti-climactic.

Little could top Monday night's thriller in which the Celtics staged a late rally to win the Eastern Division playoffs from the stubborn Syracuse Nats in the seventh and deciding game.

The upset Nats, given practically no chance against Boston in the series, led by 16 points at one time in the second period. The Celtics regained the lead at the close of the third period at the Garden but had to pull it out of the fire in the game's last minutes after Syracuse refused to give up and held a one-point advantage as late as the eight-minute mark of the fourth stanza.

The score: Celtics 130 Syracuse 125.

Round-the-World Tour

Chinese Are Wonderful People, Hong Kong Shows

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the eleventh of a series of articles by Harold N. Beck, Village resident who is former owner of the Oceanside Blade-Tribune and present owner of the Azusa Herald. Beck, in future issues of the Desert Sun, will detail the impressions he gains in his round-the-world tour.)

By HAROLD N. BECK

HONG KONG — The Chinese are wonderful people, so hospitable, so friendly, but your heart aches for thousands of them.

You see a comely Chinese mother, with a baby strapped to her back, doing hard manual labor.

You see Chinese women carrying mortar and brick and stone for building construction and highway repair.

YOU SEE TINY huts lining a street or a hillside that would make a good sized doghouse at home, which Chinese call home.

You see in the bays numerous junks and sampans aboard which thousands spend their entire lives.

You see sidewalks at night crowded with sleeping Chinese, their major possession being the blanket in which they are wrapped.

DESPISE THE POVERTY and misery the Chinese seem to be a very happy people, and for the most part they are, for a majority of them are escapees from Red China, seeking a home in a land of freedom. Ten years ago Hong Kong had 800,000 people. Today three million souls crowd the island and adjacent territories. For instance, Aberdeen, a fascinating fishing village 20 minutes from downtown Victoria, has a floating population of 100,000 Chinese whose junk or sampan is their only home.

On a motor trip we drove to within a short distance of Red China and stopped to gaze into that forbidden land. How sad are the stories we hear from the escapes of living conditions in this oppressed land where police methods and communal systems rule harassed lives.

The escapes are a colossal problem to Hong Kong, however. Efforts are made to house, clothe and feed them, but the city has about reached the saturation point. Chinese friends told us that the housing problem is so serious that it is not uncommon for ten to occupy a single bed. They sleep crosswise in tiers one above the other.

RICE IS THE principal food.

All through the villages we saw Chinese at meal time squatting on the sidewalks eating a small amount of food from a small bowl. Vendors nearby did have a variety of dishes for them to buy if they had the funds.

This recalls a pleasant evening we had with a Chinese family, the parents and sisters of George Yao of Palm Springs. At the beautifully decorated and furnished home of one of the sisters, we were dined and wined as only the Chinese can do it. Delectable food, with chicken, beef, shrimp and fish being only a part of the menu, was served.

OUR HOSTS USED chopsticks with dexterity, but I must confess that my father and I would have gone hungry if our delightful friends had not come to our rescue with a knife and fork.

To reach the Yao home we had a wonderful view of the island and territories by night. Kowloon and Victoria are the two principal cities making up Hong Kong. Both are interesting cities. Victoria is rolling, and gives you the feeling of San Francisco. From its hill-tops you get a panorama of the large harbor with ships at anchor from many nations and our own Bergensfjord standing out like a sparkling jewel.

IN HONG KONG, as in China, it is the functional things belonging to the life of the people that provide unusual interest — rickshaws with their smooth graceful line, coolies with bamboo poles swinging rhythmically along, the many different shapes and styles of native hats, the street sellers' chowbaws of rough pottery skillfully shaped and decorated, gay paper mache cake containers, Chinese kettles, teapots, even the curved handles of the native-designed scissors of barbers at work on the sidewalks.

And if these streets full of scurrying people are fascinating by day they are doubly so at night with brilliant neon signs, markets still crowded with jostling shoppers and lit by naphtha flares, the air full of the smell of the Orient and the clatter of mah-jong tiles.

THIS SMALL island has another plentiful supply of beauty among the millions which through the streets and buildings — its wornen. Little kiddies scurrying to and fro, their jackets rakishly cut and trousers crisply laundered; slim mothers and boot-button-eyed babies tucked cozily into their backs in gaily-colored slings delight the eye at every corner, while pretty office workers, smooth, skinned and fine-boned, are enough to give Hong Kong an enviable and unsurpassed reputation for human loveliness.

No wonder a famous film star recently said that, if for nothing else, he would have to come back to Hong Kong to gaze once again at the beautiful women.

SINCE HONG KONG is so close to Communist China, you would think there would be fear that Red China might try to hoggle the small area, but there is no such fear. Red China needs Hong Kong as a gateway to the west through which to distribute its products, so British financiers and wealthy Chinese go gaily about their business of investing millions in new construction projects, seen everywhere.

To reach Hong Kong from Bangkok we had to cross the South China Sea. This I shall never forget for I came as close to being seasick as I have ever been. Huge waves pitched the ship. Half the crew was seasick and it must have been so with the passengers.

This is one experience that I do not want to repeat, but we are told it could happen again as we cross the Pacific. We are now well over half way around the world and homeward bound.

Ruining Of Trees Charged

Richard Fleming, chairman of the conservation committee of the Sierra Club, charged this week before the Board of Supervisors that the county has penetrated Joshua Tree National Monument via Berdoo Canyon since a hearing on a proposed highway through the Monument by way of Blue Cut Canyon ended in denial by the National Park Service. He said county graders destroyed small Joshua trees and other plants.

"The precipitousness with which our county has moved in this matter is damaging to the integrity of the Monument and to all national parks and monuments in our nation," declared Fleming. He said the administration at Joshua Tree was not notified of the county's intent.

"A COUNTY road marker placed at Dillon Road is now directing traffic into the Monument at a point where the Monument people have not heretofore been prepared to receive it," continued the conservationist.

"We are concerned also because people are already viewing the Berdoo Canyon road as the shortest route between Twenty-nine Palms and Imperial Valley and statements have appeared in print attributed to our county administrative officer to the effect that this road would not supplant the proposed to build a road through Blue Cut Canyon. Pushawalla Canyon is also mentioned as another entrance to the Monument."

IN BEHALF of the Sierra Club, Fleming asked that destruction which occurred during the road work beyond the legal width of the present right-of-way in Berdoo Canyon entrance be restored, that any further proposals for roads inside the Monument be viewed with "an evaluation of the integrity of our National Park System," and that an attitude of cooperation be maintained with Joshua Tree administration in matters of mutual concern to the county and the Monument.

Almon Basinger, a member of the Sierra Club conservation committee, added words of protest to those already expressed by Fleming. "We must think of Joshua Tree National Monument as a park belonging to the entire nation," he declared, "and not as a part of Riverside County even though most of it lies within the confines of Riverside County."

BASINGER OBSERVED that most of the 300,000 visitors to the Monument last year came from other parts of the nation. This, he said, was good for the county commercially. He pointed out that the larger the area that is protected from over-use, the better it is biologically for the wild life therein. If too many roads are built and become commercial routes he said primitiveness of the Monument will gradually disappear.

Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen said the work done on the Berdoo Canyon road was routine maintenance work on what was believed to be in the county.

"IT IS DIFFICULT to determine in that wilderness area where the Monument boundary begins," he declared. He said he had personally inspected the road since the road maintenance crew was there and couldn't determine where the boundary line was. He said there are no plans for any additional road work in the canyon at this time.

A query by Fleming, "Is there any plan for opening the Blue Cut road?" drew from Supervisor Paul Anderson, board chairman, "Nothing at present."

Philharmonic Program Here Is Announced

Two of the all-time most played compositions in all symphonic literature have been announced for the program to be played by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra here Sunday night.

Tschakowsky's B Minor or Pathétique Symphony is the major work on the program, to be presented at 8:30 p.m., in the high school auditorium.

RESPEGHI'S TONE poem, "The Fountains of Rome," will also be featured in the orchestral works presented here under the auspices of the Palm Springs Playhouse Guild.

The program will begin with Rossini's overture to "La Gazza Ladra" and will be followed by the four-movement Respighi symphonic poem.

FOLLOWING intermission, the Los Angeles musicians will attack the Tschakowsky, sixth and most prominently displayed of all the Russian composer's works.

The Philharmonic Orchestra will be conducted by visiting Italian conductor Arturo Basile in its appearance here. Basile has replaced Erich Leinsdorf, who vacated the Los Angeles post to assume direction of the Metropolitan Opera Company's orchestra.

JUNG, FREUD SPAT TOPIC IN LECTURE

Carl Jung's break with Freud in 1912 — and the consequent wave of bickering and quarreling that has engulfed the several basic schools of psychiatric and psychological thought will be discussed in John Robert Clarke's "Adventures in Living" series, in the Desert Inn tonight.

Clarke, who spent a portion of last summer in frank, open discussions with Jung at the Swiss researcher's European home, will also reveal Jung's "three basic approaches to the subject of mental health."

"THERE ARE THOSE who say that these approaches would be even more workable today than they were when Jung evolved them early in the century," Clarke said.

Jung's relationship with Freud — he was one of seven "disciples" of the Austrian neurologist — will also be discussed by Clarke. The lecturer said that Jung, and the others, were each given an ancient scarab ring by the founder of psychoanalysis. Its effect on Jung was "unusual," Clarke believes.

"I'M GOING to try and bring Jung out of the psychiatric office and into a layman's discussion room," Clarke said. "His workability cannot be measured otherwise."

The "Adventures in Living" series begins with a lecture by Clarke followed by a circle discussion in which attendees at the lecture are urged to state their impressions and opinions on the subject of the evening.

Moose Talent Show Planned Here for May 2

A call went out today for all talented Villagers from the second annual Moose Lodge Amateur Talent Show which is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., May 2, in Palm Springs High School auditorium.

Tom McManus, chairman of the Moose-sponsored program, which annually provides funds for a summer camp for needy children as well as the Moose Lodge Scholarship Fund, the Moose safety campaign and other civic programs, advised that local amateurs had better start sharpening up their acts for the competition.

Local amateurs from the Palm Springs desert area are invited to participate in the competition.

Last year's program featured singers, dancers, musicians, pantomimists, comic acts, skit dramatists and other performers.

Dear Abby...

... by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: My teen-aged son was picked up by the police for "Loitering, Disturbing the Peace and Suspicion" whatever that means. When questioned he said, "There is nothing to do in this town." Don't you think it is the crime of SOCIETY AGAINST OUR CHILDREN instead of the other way around? Doesn't Society OWE our children something?

MOTHER: Society owes us nothing... on the contrary we OWE Society our co-operation, energy, talents and time. Too many parents expect "Society" to raise their children and provide entertainment for them. The basic moral lessons are learned at home. Provide your children with a good healthy home life (and don't forget to introduce them to church at an early age) and you won't have to worry about what they do when they have nothing to do.

DEAR ABBY: I am only thirteen years old but I know the answer to a question I see in your column very often. It is about mixing religions. I was raised Jewish and so was my brother. He fell in love with a Catholic girl and nobody could stop him from marrying her. She is a nice girl, Abby, but her folks were just as broke up about the marriage as ours. By brother changed his religion for her. They had a darling baby, but she died when she was only eleven months old. Mom fainted when she saw the beads around her little fingers. There has been no happiness in our house since we started mixing religions. Please put this in your column, Abby. Maybe it will help somebody. A JEWISH GIRL

DEAR ABBY: My in-laws think it is terrible for a lady to smoke so I never smoke in front of them and they don't know I smoke. My problem is how to keep my one-year-old son from telling them I smoke when he gets old enough to talk plainly. I know that telling him NOT to tell them would be the worst thing I could do because I know when I was a child if my mother told me not to tell something, that was the first thing I would tell. If I DON'T tell him not to mention it, I'm afraid he might accidentally let the cat out of the bag. What is your advice?

SMOKER: DEAR SMOKER: A woman who is old enough to be a wife and mother is certainly old enough to smoke if she wishes. Either quit smoking or tell your in-laws yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and I live next door to a very nice young couple. We are good friends and they are my only neighbors as I live on a corner. Only occasionally do we visit each other, as we both work. My problem is this: They keep their shades closed all the time. It gives me such a lonely feeling to be completely shut out. If they knew how I felt I am sure they wouldn't do it. If you'd print this in your column they might see it. Thank you.

SHUT OUT: Don't expect even the friendliest of folks to live in full view of their neighbors. They don't mean to "shut you out" — they keep their shades closed to attain privacy, which is every person's right.

IS IT SAFE TO GO STEADY? Get ABBY's booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large self-addressed stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this newspaper. For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

'Pappy' Boyington Heads Panel of Authors

"Books are reminders of a world outside . . . they help us to see other people in their setting," said John Robert Clarke, writer and lecturer, when he presented a panel of best-seller authors to the Book and Authors Guild Tuesday at the Tennis Club.

Clarke, who was presented by Eleanor Lee, regional director for Book and Authors Guild, is currently presenting a series of "Adventures in Living" lectures here in Palm Springs, and developed the theme of using the book as a pair of binoculars to study world environments.

The authors included the famed flyer Col. Gregory "Pappy" Boyington, Bruce Cameron, Harry Haislip, Leo Katcher, Helen Hinkley, and John Burton.

Cameron, author of the "Sins of Maria," took his audience abroad by the same trick Columbus used to show Queen Isabella what the New World looked like. Crumpling a square of green crepe paper, he dropped it on the table and said it represented the green-clad mountains and beaches of Puerto Rico, where the story of Maria is laid. Maria, he said, is a symbol of two and a half million people, seeking freedom. It is a facet of the universal struggle to achieve love and dignity.

Ex-newspaperman Leo Katcher is the author of "The Big Bank Roll," the story of Arnold Rothstein, whose unethical practices on a grand scale made him a political personage, whose name still figures in today's politics.

Katcher said "the weakness of a democracy is its dependence on politics and politicians," and termed Rothstein as founder of a set-up that became Murder, Inc., the "predecessor of a line that will outlast the Bourbons . . . and probably the Windsors."

Of the man who is said to have founded the first international drug ring, Katcher said quietly "The worst thing he did was attack human dignity."

It was a complete change of pace, when Helen Hinkley, who wrote "Reveille of a Persian Village," spoke slowly and sweetly of work in Iran.

Of the deserts of the world, she said they were created with special and loving care and that the desert's "silence and serenity has produced all the world's greatest religions."

Written with Najmeh Najafi, the book is a sequel to "Persia's My Heart" and the royalties from the book go to build schools in a little town in Iran that has been transformed into a model village. She said it was a wonderful demonstration of how "a small light makes a great gleam in a very dark world."

An ex-Navy man, who writes of naval adventures, Harry Haislip is the author of "The Prize Master," a tale of a privateer, which presents a new picture of Benjamin Franklin during a period when he ran a line of privateers along the French coast.

Katcher pointed out that the beginnings of our Navy lay in pri-

WAR HERO Col. Gregory "Pappy" Boyington was stellar attraction when the Book and Authors Guild heard a panel of well-known authors at the Tennis Club luncheon Tuesday. Here "Pappy" poses with vateering, and that the men of today live by the traditions of the "wooden ships and iron men" of those earlier days.

Col. "Pappy" Boyington, ex-Flying Tiger War hero, who was welcomed home by a ticker tape parade along Broadway, and is today a living legend, did his best to debunk glory as such. His proclaimed theory is "Show me a hero and I'll prove him a bum." He startled his audience a bit with some of his comments about Chenmait, Gen. Chiang, and won them with his likable personality and engaging grin. His book "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep" does the same thing, and he was easily the stellar attraction at the luncheon, with quite a few men turning out to hear him speak.

John Burton, whose book is still in process of being written, brought with him a collection of hand-blown glass, which he has made using the technique of early craftsmen. It is so fine that experts have identified pieces of it as centuries old.

"We'd be back in the Dark Ages . . . without glass," Burton pointed out, asking his enthralled audience to imagine a world without windows, mirrors, telescopes, magnifying lenses, spectacles, or any form of glassware.

He called it "the coming threat to steel," now that, in a new form, it is being used to make ball bearings, nose cones for rock-

Ranch Club Has Busy Weekend

Easter weekend at the Ranch Club was as great a weekend as the Club has ever witnessed, with just about all the members and their guests paying a visit.

Sunday brunch was over capacity and every one seemed to enjoy the usual gaiety. While the families enjoyed themselves at the brunch, the children were entertained by a puppet show and a special program arranged by John and Edna Torrence.

Highlight of both parties was the children's presentations. Wearets, and even tools that can cut steel. Tracing the history of glass from Mesopotamia, 14,000 years ago, or possibly earlier, he told how it was a monopoly of the Egyptian Pharaohs, spreading later to Venice, where it brought that city to its splendid heights, before glass-making finally became a gift to mankind.

The third and last session of Books and Authors Guild will be held at the Tennis Club on April 21, and Jim Backus (Mr. Magoo) will be among the panel speakers.

There were over 100 in attendance at Tuesday's luncheon, including a group of women from Banning.

Scout Camp Site Drive Is Launched

$197,000 Sought
For Four Major
County Projects

A $197,000 campaign for development of Boy Scout camp sites in Riverside County was announced here today by Village members of the Riverside County Boy Scout Council.

The campaign, to begin immediately, will not be in conflict with United Fund campaigning for the Boy Scouts.

"The United Fund campaigns are for operating funds only," said Council President Owen Burman of Corona. "The Boy Scout Council must meet its own capital fund need."

INCLUDED IN THE development are:

Camp Emerson — A $157,000 expansion of the much-used camp site near Idyllwild is programmed by the Council. Included will be acquisition of additional acreage, erection of a new central lodge, construction of a swimming pool, clearing for troop campsites and replacement of worn out facilities.

Joshua Tree — A new campsite in the high desert area can now be purchased for $10,000. If the campaign is successful, the Council plans to acquire this site in time for summer use.

CAMP EVANS — Complete rebuilding, to the tune of $25,000, is required at this camp located near the foot of Mt. Rubidoux. A new central lodge, sanitary facilities, Cub Scout day camp and a picnic area are planned.

Capital Fund — A $5,000 fund to purchase trailers, canoes, boats and enough camping gear so the Council can arrange and operate a series of high adventure mobile camp tours.

Villagers working on the campaign include Jacques B. Crommelin, who is also vice president of the Council; Harry Hill, Judge Hilton McCabe, Jack Miles, W. A. Serruys and Herb Samson. Carl Emerson of Cathedral City is also engaged in participation in the fund drive.
